Introduction:

Background of the Organisation

Established in 2001, the Bhushan Educational Society of Tadepalligudem (BEST) is a renowned non-profit entity focused on advancing social development projects in rural and tribal regions of West Godavari District, Andhra Pradesh, India. With a steadfast dedication to inclusivity, fairness, and sustainable progress, BEST stands as a symbol of optimism and positive change within the communities it supports.

Message from the Chair-person:

Our organization is dedicated to fostering national harmony across all social groups, emphasizing education, vocational training, and healthcare access in rural and tribal regions. We offer shelters for children and women, aid welfare groups and villages, set up libraries and adult education centers, support agricultural growth, and advocate for sanitation and hygiene. Additionally, we empower rural women to achieve self-reliance.

About Organisation:

BEST maintains high standards of professionalism and integrity in all endeavors, led by a dedicated team of professionals and educators. Through effective program implementation and adherence to ethical principles, BEST achieves tangible outcomes such as increased literacy rates, improved healthcare access, and community empowerment. The organization operates across education, community development, and environmental conservation sectors, promoting academic excellence, eco-friendly practices, and biodiversity preservation. With a focus on healthcare accessibility, women's empowerment, and livelihood promotion, BEST contributes to both economic growth and social development.

Vision & Mission

Vision

BEST collaborates with various groups, including children, women, families, and communities, to drive lasting change through education, hygiene, and advocacy for rights, emphasizing equality and equal opportunities. Supported by donors, we fund initiatives like healthcare, literacy programs, and skill development to enhance employability.

Mission

The optimal approach involves implementing the most effective methods and technology to attain the highest social return on investment (SROI), fostering good governance. This entails connecting corporate business competitiveness with social development efforts and raising awareness among privileged children, youth, and the public at large to advocate for Civic Driven Change.

Conclusion & Review

Our ongoing mission relies on unity and dedication, recognizing that our organization's essence lies in the people it serves and those who contribute to it.

We're grateful for the support of those we assist, our funders, and our dedicated employees, volunteers, and collaborators. We're expanding our reach by seeking grants from national and international agencies. Special thanks to our teams for their efforts in addiction prevention, health promotion, education, support for neglected parents and refugees, aid for the homeless and youth, and HIV/AIDS prevention.

A heartfelt thank you to our "OUR SOCIETY" social worker group students for their outstanding commitment to our programs.
